

SHARON JABLON is a business development manager for the Electronic Payments Network at The Clearing House. She is responsible for developing and implementing innovative solutions which enable the growth of electronic payments with an emphasis on B2B payments including the UPIC and STP 820 initiatives.

Sharon managed the analysis, design and rollout of the STP 820 remittance information initiative. She is an active member of ANSI X12F and participates in EDI maintenance activities and its new XML implementation development for financial transactions. In addition Sharon participates in the ISO Payment Standards Evaluation Group which evaluates enhancements to the ISO20022 Payment standard.

Prior to her eight years at The Clearing House, Sharon was an IT consultant, managing large Year 2000 projects and IT initiatives for computer vendors. She has over 25 years of experience in application development and implementation across market segments. Sharon has a B.S. from Boston University and an M.S. from New York University. Sharon also has her AAP accreditation.