

Anne Spray Kinney
Director of Research and Consulting
The Government Finance Officers Association

Anne Spray Kinney is the Director of the Government Finance Officers Association's Research and Consulting Center. The center conducts best practice research, prepares practitioner-oriented publications, and provides training and consulting to governments. Anne is the lead staff researcher for the National Performance Management Advisory Commission

Anne has worked in the field of government management for more than 20 years, much of that time as a practitioner, holding management positions in local, regional and state government . Anne spent much of her time in government in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where she served as the city's Budget and Management Director, Director of Administration, also at the city, and then was CEO of the Milwaukee region's wastewater treatment and flood control authority. Anne has also taught public financial management at the graduate level.

Anne is a past president of the Government Finance Officers Association and has a BA in political science from American University and a master's degree in public administration from the University of Illinois at Chicago.

.