

MIKE MOODY has served as director of the Michigan Office of Financial Management and state controller since August 2002. He is an accounting graduate of Central Michigan University and a certified public accountant. He began his career in state government with the Michigan Office of the Auditor General in 1976, where he worked for ten years as a staff auditor and supervisor, and provided data processing support to audit staff. He previously served 13 years in the Office of Financial Management as director of the Financial Operations Division and state payroll manager. He also served three years as a project manager on the implementation of a statewide human resources, benefits, and payroll system and one year doing budget development and monitoring work as director of the Office of Budget Development and General Government.