

DARREN MUISE is head of commercial partnerships, state and local government, at Visa Inc. In this role, Mr. Muise is responsible for sales and business development in the state, local and higher education market segments. His responsibilities include strategic partnership, program development, market research and consulting. Prior to joining Visa Inc, Mr. Muise was senior vice president, card sales manager for a national issuing financial institution.

Mr. Muise joined Visa in 2007 after spending nearly seven years on the sales and relationship management side of the card industry, where he was responsible for the strategic development and retention of the corporate and purchasing card programs within the public sector. Responsibilities included helping organizations gain maximum benefit and value from their purchasing and corporate card programs.