

WAYNE BOBBY

VICE PRESIDENT, ORACLE PUBLIC SECTOR INDUSTRY SOLUTIONS

ORACLE U.S.A.

Wayne Bobby is the vice president of public sector industry solutions for Oracle U.S.A. In that capacity, Mr. Bobby provides guidance and direction on enterprise resource planning, customer relationship management and related technology solutions for Oracle's current and potential public sector customers. Mr. Bobby draws from nearly 30 years of work experience in public sector industry program operations and technology software solutions. He spent 17 years in the federal government where he was the director of Financial Management Services for the U.S. Department of State until April of 1996. In that capacity, he was responsible for the department's global financial management systems operations and related accounting policy guidance.

He holds a master's degree in business administration with a concentration in Management Information Systems from George Washington University in Washington, D.C.